You will actually teach your brain to stop tasting sugar. If you cant taste it, you might not want to eat it. Amazingly enough it works! Our group tried it, here are some comments! I LOVED this July Inner Circle. I can listen in the car and at my desk at work. The sugar blaster worked on things I tend to crave like cookies and soft drinks. I was listening to the CD while driving through a fast food place and the soft drink I got was really flat and yucky. Coincidence? I dont know, but I did drink more water and sugar was not as appealing as it had been prior to listening. The stress less was fabulous to listen to while I was driving. I felt really relaxed which is somewhat of a challenge in traffic and I was able to work through problems very productively and felt very much in control. Excellent job as usual Wendi!!
